About the Class

Internet and Web Design is a one-quarter class that covers concepts relating to the Internet, research, and web development.

In this class you will learn a brief history of the Internet and its' functions, proper research methods on-line, XHTML and CSS programming, web design techniques and methods utilizing Photoshop, and use of the Dreamweaver web development software.

Grading Policies

Weighting for grades is as follows:

Assignments	25.00%
Projects	40.00%
Participation	15.00%
Research Paper	10.00%
Final Exam	10.00%

Extra Credit

Every Friday a student can earn extra credit by bringing in and discussing a news article from that week that is related to technology and/or the Internet. This grade will count as an assignment grade.

Extra Help

All students are encouraged to come in for extra help when needed. Extra help is available during A block (7:30-7:57) and after school in room 138. Meetings outside of these times need to be arranged with Mr. Stanley.

Absences

If a student has an excused absence from class, that student is required to come to an A block extra help session for a review of what was missed.

Any missing work will have a grace period the same length that have you been absent. Any missed quizzes/tests must be made up on the day you return to class. Work passed in after the time allotted will not be accepted. Students with unexcused absences will receive a 0 for the day.

General Lab Rules

- Respect everybody in the lab. This includes the teacher, peers, guests, subs, wild animals, etc.
- Respect all equipment in the lab.
- No food or drinks allowed.
- Mp3 players and music are a privilege, don't make me take it away
- There is absolutely 0 reason for you have to a cell phone out during class. First offense is a detention and a phone call home, second offense is a write-up and a phone call home. Don't make me have to come up with an idea for a third offense. This also applies to people who “forget” to turn off their ringer during class.
- The above rule applies to devices like handheld gaming devices as well.
- I reserve the right to confiscate these items until the end of class or the end of the day (whatever I see fit) You reserve the right to refuse.
